Only Once Ever Two Years, According to the Natives.

SOME INTERESTING FIGURES GIVEN

A Heavy Church Attendance and a Grow ing Amendment Sentiment-Views of Lenders on Both Sides-The Railroad Freight End of the Issue-Lebanon Solid Against Prohibition-Perry County on the Other Side of the Fence.

It is not at all sure which way Dauphin county will vote in the June election. That very fact is taken by Prohibitionists as a sort of a victory, because Dauphin has heretofore been pronounced in her opposition to anti-liquor laws. More information has been given our Special Commissioner about the effect the adoption of the amendment would have on railroad freight business. Lebanon county will vote against the amendment, and Perry county will give a majority for it.

PROM OUR SPECIAL COMMISSIONER.

HARRISBURG, February 26. - "Lawmakers shouldna be law-breakers." That they are, though, is a popular belief, and because this is the State capital many people imagine it to be a wicked city. Possibly for that reason does the impression prevail generally throughout the State that Dauphin county will vote against Constitutional amendment in June. And in my travels I have met those, better acquainted with the county, who entertain the same notion, because, as they told me, outside of Harrisburg, the rural districts are principally populated by Pennsylvania Dutch. Beside all that, Dauphin's record was such as to not encourage hope within the prohibition heart. The county voted against prohibition legislation in 1854 by 972 majority, and in 1873, under the local option law, it gave 1,292 majority for license. That showed a growth of sentiment against pro-

PROHIBITION'S GAIN HERE. With this general opinion west of the mountains, of Dauphin's position, people will more readily eatch the full force of a remark I heard a gentleman make here. He "For this county to be close on the issue would be a gain for prohibition." He meant that even though the liquor interests carry Dauphin county, any reduction from their previous majorities is that much gain to Prohibitionists in the grand aggregate of votes in the State. He predicted a big reduction in those previous majorities, and even ventured the assertion that Harrisburg city might give 1,000 majority for the amendment. This gentleman is perfectly competent to judge, having been a life-long resident of the county, occupying a prominent position and having an ntimate acquaintance with people in all parts of the county, yet he takes no active part in the present campaign. On the other hand, I met Francis Jordon, Esq., a highly esteemed Republican lawyer, who is now recognized as the leader of the Constitutional amendment adherents, and who is deeply engaged in managing the county canvass for them. He cautiously expressed the opinion that the county of Dauphin would adopt the amendment by a small majority, although confessing his own surprise at such a state of public feeling which he says came to him as a revelation. Then I interviewed brewers, saloon keepers and representatives of the Lochiel, Hershey and United States hotels. They all have li-censes, and here where transient custom is furnished by the Legislature's sessions, the bar receipts of the hotels are very large. They seemed to agree that Dauphin county would defeat the amendment possibly by from 500 to 700 majority. Politicians, too, who know every acre of the county, appear to be divided in their forecasts of the re-

THE SITUATION ANALYZED.

It will be seen therefore that this is one of the counties where a prediction is impossi-ble. The best local judges are not sure of their prophecies and the campaign is too uncertainties. Yet it is significant that liquor men themselves do not expect more than one-half the majority they had 15 years ago.

The total vote of Dauphin County is somewhere in the neighborhood of 16,000 in a Presidental election. Of those nearly 8,000 are cast by Harrisburg. It will thus be seen that the rural districts are as important in estimating the probable vote on prohibition as the Capital city itself. The same gentleman who made the observation about the closeness of the struggle gave me this information about both city and this information about both city and country:

The sentiment for prohibition is surprisingly strong in Harrisburg. One great element of the strength is the remarkable attendance our churches have here. Notwithstanding the idea in various parts of the state that this being the Capital is a Godless city, statistics will prove that more people in Harrisburg attend churches and more children go to Sunday schools than in any other city of Pennsylvania in proportion to our size. For instance, one of the Protostant Sunday schools has a membership of 1,600, and at another the attendance of children every Subbath reaches 1,500. At one of these Sabbath schools the Bible class alone has 400 adult members, who are taught by Mr. James McCormick, the brother-in-law of Don Cameron.

CITY AND COUNTRY.

Now, the percentage of all these church-going people who will vote against the amendment will be very small. Besides that, local option was only defeated in Harrisburg by 68 votes, and, however true or false may be the rumors that more than that number of temperance votes were counted out by the election officers, I feel certain that the 15 years' growth temperance sentiment has had since then, and the marvelous increase in the membership of Harrisburg churches since then, will place the city's majority so high up on the prohibition side that there can be no question about it. Steelton, on account of foreigners in the mills, will be close.

As to the country districts, it is true that the desoendants of the Pennsylvania Dutch control a large share of the votes. But wherever you find the United Brethren Church there you will also find a conscientious opposition to the liquor traffice in all its forms. The United Brethren denomination is very strong in that part of Daunbin country known as the Lebanon Brethren denomination is very strong in that part of Dauphin county known as the Lebanon Valley, Germans and their descendants gen-erally belong to it, and as that denomination is not nearly so liberal in their views on the liquor question as the German Lutheran and German Reformed churches it is my opinion the Dutch of Dauphin will be an exception to the rule elsewhere and will vote for the amendment. If they do it will even up the aggregate so much in the county that I should not be surprised to se the amendment adopted.

A PROHIBITIONIST SURPRISED.

There are about 130 licenses in Dauphin county. Sixty-eight of these are in Harris-burg, including three large breweries and several bottling establishments. Francis Gordon, referred to above, said:

Temperance organizations have always been very weak here: there is a large number of the descendants of Pennsylvania Dutch in the country sections, the city hotels have powerful friends and, on the whole, I did not have much hope a few months ago of Dauphin doing much for the amendment. But I was surprised beyond measure at the tramendous crowd which attended the first prohibition mass meeting

Mr. Gordon was Chairman of the meeting he describes. Walter T. Mills, of the Voice, and Rev. H. T. Hector, the popular colored orator, aroused the 1,500 people with their

THAT BAILROAD SCARE.

Harrisburg is a great railroad center, and one of the railroad officials having read what appeared in THE DISPATCH letter from Altoons regarding the freight business railroads would lose if the amendment were adopted, handed me these statistics, which relate to the Twenty-third Internal Revenue district, or most of the territory in the State lying west of the Alleghenies. He said they were pretty nearly correct:

About 3.640 carloads of grain are shipped from the West to this district, which, at $50 per car, shows that the railroads receive in freight $182, 2000. In addition, the railroads receive for car-rying whisky in barrels $20,000, making a total of $202,000, which does not, however, include freight charges on shipments of iron hoops and staves to distilleries where barrels are manu-

"Well, what will the railroad corporations do in the June election, then?" l

The official shrugged his shoulders, replying that he was not in the confidences of the great magnates in Philadelphia.

"Why they will vote for the amendment,

"Why they will vote for the amendment, of course," replied a bystander, bitterly, "because they know that if there were no more rum shops the workingman will have more money to take his family on summer excursions, and the increase in Alantic City, lakeside and mountain fares every summer would more than make up for the loss in brewery freights, which, after all, are not so great in tonnage. Hops are light, you know."

TWO ADJOINING COUNTIES.

Lebanon county, to the east of Dauphin, is openly arrayed against the amendment.
Its great bulk of population is made up of Dutch farmers, while their descendants are largely sprinkled in the towns. The United Brethren Church is strong throughout the county, and it has a college at Annville, too, but the larger number of Germans than in Dauphin, and the presence of other religious denominations, offset whatever influence the Brethren would exert in favor of prohibition. The feeling against sumptuary laws is also strong there. In 1873 the county defeated local option by 2,373, and with her very small vote in 1854 also gave 1,700 majority against a prohibitory law.

jority against a prohibitory law.

But Perry county, which bounds Dauphin on the west, promises from 400 to 600 majority for the amendment. John C. McAllister, Chairman of the Democratic County Committee, estimates it at 500. In 1873 Perry's majority for the local option method was 578. The people are of Scotch-Irish origin, and are principally farmers, although a few small iron furnaces stand along the P. R. B. The Presbyterian Church is very strong throughout the county.

Yesterday we dropped into Dr. Charles S. Scott's dental offices, at 624 Penn avenue, opposite Horne's, and, as usual, found them crowded with sufferers seeking relief.

While we were there (only a few minutes) the doctor extracted 16 teeth for one lady and 14 for another, and each lady assured us that she did not suffer the slightest pain, but on the contrary had a delightful dream, Seeing is believing, and we can assure those who are suffering from toothace or wish their unsightly and decayed teeth removed, that Dr. Charles Scott can extract them without the slightest pain, and that his anæsthetic

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS. A SAD WOMAN.

The Secret Cause of Most Ladies' Trou-bles Explained and some Sensible Ad-

It is safe to say that not one woman in ten thousand lives a single week in which she does not either cry or feel like crying. The cares of life, disappointments, and, more than all else, weaknesses and pains make all women more or less miserable. This is all wrong, Women were made for happiness, not for misery. When a woman is weak she requires strength. Her body, her mind and all her faculties and functions must be put in a healthy condition, or she cannot secure strength. Nature is always ready to do this, but nature almost always requires assistance, and the question therefore is, "How can we best assist nature!"

The finest physicians in the medical profession have agreed that nothing so surely and easily does this as pure whiskey taken in moderation, either before meals or between meals. The effect is to gently and healthly stimulate all the faculties to vigorous action, and thus nature is assisted and strength is given. There are hundreds of thousands of ladies in America, to-day, who are growing stronger, healthir and more attractive in appearance by the judicious use of Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey. Many of these ladies are the wives of ministers and professors, and hundreds of them are temperance women. They realize that Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey is a medicine, not a drink, and that it furnishes the best and only positive help to weakened bodies that has ever been discovered. Great care should be exercised, however, to secure only the genuine, which is absolutely pure, for there are many so-called whiskies in the market that are a positive injury to anyone who uses them. We venture to assert, however, that not one woman in five hundred who will carefully use this great aid to health in moderation will continue to suffer from weaknesses, but, on the contrary, will find a renewal not only of youthful vigor, but of color, brightness, and all those qualities which indicate the presence of perfect health. vice given. ANOTHER WEEK OF PLEASANT MEMORIES

DOUGLAS & MACKIE

Have to thank a discriminating and intelligent public for the hearty responses accorded to their "last call on cloaks, wraps, etc." Our magnificent cloak salons look as though they had been visited by a cyclone. Never mind. What's left you can have at almost any price. This week we'll make it doubly interesting and profitable in dress goods—specially black. Won't say another word, but here goes for a few examples of trade-creating reductions:

50 pieces all wool black French cashmeres that were 50c, now 35c a yard.

5 special good numbers in 42-inch all wool black cashmeres, will be offered at 50c, 55c, 62½c, 68c and 75c, just 15c to 25c less than usual prices.

A 43-inch all wool 75c black French Henrietta, this week, 48c a yard, a very excellent range of 48-inch all wool black English serges, that would be cheap enough at 65c, to be offered all this week (if they last that long), at 50c a yard.

A really magnificent assortment in silk warp Henriettas, and Iancy weaves in black goods, will be laid out at prices too tempting for quotation.

Come and see us! You'll be pleased. We'll make it pay you. 151 and 153 FEDERAL STREET, ALLEGHENY.

ALLEOVERCOATS, STORM AND CAPE OVERCOATS HAVE "GOT TO GO"

On Washington's Birthday we noticed quite a number of men in the parade minus Overcoats. It was a balmy spring day, full of warmth and sunshine. The next day there was universal shivering. Another cold spell set in, and now, every man who owns an Overcoat, instead of hanging it in his wardrobe and deluding himself with the idea that the winter is over, is only too glad to wear it.

These cold spells, which may be looked for every now and then during the latter part of February and the stormy month of Marchwill afford us our last chance to get rid of the balance of our Overcoats. Sharp blasts from the North or West and sharp reductions in our prices form a combination against which no man without an Overcoat dare rebel.

We suit our action to our word!

The very best Schnabel Elysian Fur Beaver Overcoat-thousands of them sold for $30-Now $20. You'll be fortunate to get one. Fine Elvsian Fur Beaver Overcoats; warm and comfortable. We'll not carry a single one into next season. The price has been $25. Now it's $15. They'll go at the price. Heavy and medium weight Melton and Chinchilla Overcoats, as good as they are fashionable; former price was $18. They'll go now at $12. Remember, these are no sham reductions; not figures printed for effect. Never confound our advertisements, our bona fide offers, with the sensational, highly colored balderdash of certain Clothiers. Clothiers! What a misnomer, if applied to those dealers! Mountebanks is the
